GOOD NEWS FOR HOMEMAKERS

Shirley W. Walton

OFF TO COLLEGE
Plan Ahead for Dormitory Living

All over the country, college-bound freshman are getting ready to leave home and move into a dormitory, oftentimes with room mates and new responsibilities.

It helps to see the room in advance to get an idea of the layout and how much space is available. Also, the opportunity to meet any roommates in order to plan and coordinate the room arrangement and furnishings.

Check with the school for items which may be provided. Besides furniture, some colleges provide curtains, bedding, towels and other needs.

Then, start planning what to take and how to decorate the room to make it cheerful and practical. Get down to basics - how to keep the room clean easily and laundry under control.

Make it an all-washable room. Keep in mind that the dorm room is an "everything" center. Besides sleeping and studying here, it may also be used for socializing, dressing, eating, listening to music, working on projects and many other activities.

It may be a personal responsibility to keep furnishings, curtains, bedding and blankets clean. Choose attractive, color-coordinated items that are sturdy. For example, since beds take up the most room and may be used for sitting space, a durable, no-iron bedspread that can be machine washed and dried is most practical. Matching throw pillows with zip-off washable covers and washable area rugs are attractive additions that offer comfort and easy care.

Closet and drawer space may be limited, but space savers can help. There is a wide choice, such as stackable boxes and trays, multi-tiered clothes hangers, over-the-door shoe and towel racks, various hooks and hangers. An assortment of drawer dividers and desk organizers are also available to help keep everything in place.

Take advantage of wall space. Bulletin boards are great catchalls for mementos and reminders. By using pegboard, even a narrow wall area can be converted to hold a variety of hooks to store anything from a tennis racket to a favorite bathrobe. There are also wall-hung magazine racks and shelving for neatly stashing other paraphernalia.

Many items used in common in households -- soap, toothpaste, laundry aids, tissues -- will have to be purchased for personal use at school. Other essentials may include a lamp, small hammer and screwdriver, alarm clock. Instead of transporting these items from home, however, it may be easier to shop near campus.

Do take a small first aid kit, sewing kit and small grooming needs for immediate use. Don't forget a roomy laundry bag for general washing and a mesh bag for hosiery and delicates. If there is room, a folding dryer rack will be helpful for hanging hand-washables.

Once you're established, it helps to talk things over, divide chores and establish a routine to keep a room clean, uncluttered and comfortable. With the proper supplies and a little forethought, dormitory living will be a pleasant and memorable experience.

VEPCO Shows Energy Output Increase

Energy output for the first six months of 1976 increased 6.5 per cent over energy output for the same period of 1975, according to an official of Virginia Electric and Power Company.

C. M. Stallings, Vepco Vice President, said energy output for the six months period ending June 30, 1976 totaled 17,422,896,000 kilowatthours of electricity, compared to 16,361,571,000 kilowatthours for the first half of 1975.

During the first six months of 1976, Mr. Stallings said, residential customers used 3 per cent more electricity than the previous year and commercial customers used 4.4 per cent more energy. Reverend Robert Grant, pastor of the United Methodist Church, performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a "Priscilla of Boston" gown fashioned of white chianti organza with Paris lace trim. The empire top of lace was finished with a low V neckline, short sleeves and a full length skirt. The veil was full floating with matching lace at the cap. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses and ivy.

Mrs. Carl Pergolini, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Gail Perrotti and Miss Janet Perrotti, both of Demarest and sisters of the bride. Miss Doreen Robertson of Clifton, N.J., and Mrs. Michael LaViola of Dumont, N.J. Each attendant wore a gown with a rainbow color. The colors were aqua, pink, blue, mint, and apricot. They were sleeveless with spagetti straps and had matching shoulder capes. They carried bouquets of multi-colored daisies that matched the gowns, and were surrounded by baby's breath. The matron of honor carried a combination of white roses and aqua daisies.

The bride's mother wore a "Holly Harp" creation of matte jersey. The gown of peach color was soft flowing with thin spaghetti straps.

The groom's mother wore a pale yellow gown fashioned with a V-neckline and sleeveless. Accompanied with the gown was a chiffon transparent cape which extended mid-length over the gown.

Mr. Craig Martin, of Lynchburg, was best man, and ushers were Mr. Jeffery Moore of Appomattox, nephew of the groom. Mr. Joey Martin of Lynchburg, Mr. Carl Pergolini of Fort Lee, New Jersey and sister-in-law of the bride. Mr. Alvin Reynolds of Appomattox, cousin of the groom. The men wore camel tuxedos with ivory ruffled shirts and had white carnations in their lapels.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Perrotti entertained with a reception at the Tammybrook Country Club of Cresskill, New Jersey. The reception consisted of a full dinner and dance, music by the Tony Leonard Band. The dinner began with a champagne toast by the best man, Craig Martin. The appetizer was of fresh cut fruit served in half a cantaiope followed by a course of baked scrod and wine. The main dish was prime rib, potatoes, and green beans almondine. Dessert was the strawberry filled wedding cake served with Italian ice cream.

The bride is a graduate of Northern Valley Regional High School of Demarest and a 1976 graduate of Lynchburg College. She received a Bachelor of Science degree in Health and Physical Education.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Appomattox County High School and attended Central Virginia Community College. He is presently employed by Babcock and Wilcox.
